

Prexcyt Quest: The First Cryptex Hunt Solution Guide

Prexcyt Go! (Poison Pillar)

As indicated by the device you found, this puzzle is a mobile app, a spoof in the style of Pokemon Go! that requires you to move around with a GPS equipped device looking for dragons. As you do, you should encounter each of the five colors of dragons with a description. When you compare the descriptions to the coordinates of where they're found you can derive the following meanings:

Color	Indication	Rule: having...
Black	With two circles on its body.	At least two zeroes (not necessarily adjacent)
Blue	With all the odds in its favor.	At least one of each odd number
Red	In prime fighting shape.	One of the decimal portions is prime
White	With two pairs of wings.	Two sets of adjacent double digits
Green	With two perfectly matched tails.	The same last digit of both coordinates

Once you have derived the meaning of each of the dragons' descriptions, you need to find a location where all of rules are true. When you do, you encounter Prexcyt herself:

The unified heads of Prexcyt taunt you with a riddle...

*I can pick out a shape from afar
I love to pig out at the snack bar
I get startled by some big sneezes
I'm annoyed by fishy sea breezes
I know what's soft or hard, rough or bald
Five are we all told; what are we called?*

Answer: Sight, Taste, Hearing, Smell, and Touch

Solution: SENSES