

Bravo, Romeo and Juliett

Next month, The Cryptex Theatre brings the timeless tale of love and tragedy to center stage, inviting audiences to indulge in the timeless tale of passion and fate and the beautiful cast! The best part of two worlds! The male lead is quite the fox, trotting around in those tights! The rest of the chorus are also a particularly attractive bunch - thank you to the costumer, Dottie Dashworth, for those extra snug costumes. It was like they thought, "Shapeless caftan, go in the trash!" We agree!

Rumors have it that just a glance from James Martinez, the male lead, can cause your undies to char. "Lies, but I'll take the compliment," said Martinez. "He's supermacho," tells Emma Patel, his leading lady, "And he's perfect in diameter - I mean iambic pentameter - whoops!" "He wears this cologne called No. V. Embers. He has me burning up from a whiff whenever he walks by!" said another cast member who preferred not to be named, although this was the general sentiment.

The play is shaping up to be a fresh take on an old classic thanks to Nicci Davis who is in her directorial debut. "Everything just came together. I'm still nervous but the cast is really there for me." When we asked her about James Martinez, she said, "I admit, it does give me a big olfactory high to be near him but that's it, we are professionals after all, he's still single so the community should come down to see what all the gossip is about!"

The Cryptex Theatre website will have all the up-to-date details on the production. Grab your tickets fast - this hot cast will sell out quickly.
